3.07.003 EMPLOYMENT OF RELATIVES (REVISED MARCH 30, 2005)

The office will not accept any application from or consider for employment any person whose spouse, father, mother, brother, sister, son, daughter, grandparents, grandchildren, father-in-law, or mother-in-law is an employee of the Office. Employees may marry or live in the same household, and still remain employed by the Office, only under the following circumstances:

Revised 1/1/17

- One may not be in a supervisory role over the other and may not participate in the promotional process of the other;
- If the two employees work in the same division, they may not work the same shift hours; or
- If the employee is in a position where he or she directs the daily functions of the spouse or roommate, they may not work the same shift hours.
